

Dear Mr. President,

We've got your back! Your passionate desire to secure the border can become a reality if you endorse the third way model for immigration reform. The cost will be borne by Mexicans and others working here illegally—and the Americans who hire them.

Our think tank designed a program whereby immigrants and their homeowner, farmer, food processing-employers can each contribute 5 percent of earnings to generate the revenue needed to support healthcare, education, border security and more with the $210 billion in new revenue.

Direct Kevin Brady to have the Ways and Means Committee write a bill based on our proposal and have it scored by CBO so we're ready to succeed.

Our model creates 1.7 million new American jobs.

Let's get this done!

All the Best,

Mark Jason, Director of ITIG (Immigrant Tax Inquiry Group) is a former Special Agent for the Internal Revenue Service. He served as a budget analyst for the California State University System, and as a consultant for the Mexican government. Over the past several years, Mark developed a 100-acre farm near Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, which produces more than 350 tons of honeydew melons annually for the United States. He did this to create local jobs and teach modern farming techniques to this area of need. His education, his diverse experience in accounting, economics and farm management, and his years of cross-border work have led him to focus on immigration reform in America. His third way immigration project, developed by a 'think tank' team, was seven years in the making. He currently resides in Malibu, California.
