

Dear Senator Perdue,

Last year, your sister Debbie attempted to present you with our conservative and compassionate proposal to help ease our immigration problem. Now, immigration is very much in the forefront, and we have a solution to help the relieve the burden on American taxpayers.

Because of some unfavorable published data on Georgia's schools and hospitals, you may want to read how Georgia would receive \$7,098,000,000 with our viable, bipartisan immigration policy.

After reviewing our FAQ, you may still have questions. Please feel free to call me and we can start a discussion.

All the Best,

Mark Jason, Director of ITIG (Immigrant Tax Inquiry Group) is a former Special Agent for the Internal Revenue Service. He served as a budget analyst for the California State University System, and as a consultant for the Mexican government. Over the past several years, Mark developed a 100-acre farm near Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, which produces more than 350 tons of honeydew melons annually for the United States. He did this to create local jobs and teach modern farming techniques to this area of need. His education, his diverse experience in accounting, economics and farm management, and his years of cross-border work have led him to focus on immigration reform in America. His third way immigration project, developed by a 'think tank' team, was seven years in the making. He currently resides in Malibu, California.
