

IMMIGRANT TAX

INQUIRY GROUP

The Immigrant Tax Inquiry Group (ITIG) is a not-for-profit, non-partisan, privately-funded organization created to help break the persistent gridlock that has left US immigration policy in a state of philosophical and political paralysis. Our name is based on our bedrock belief that immigrants themselves are part of the solution.

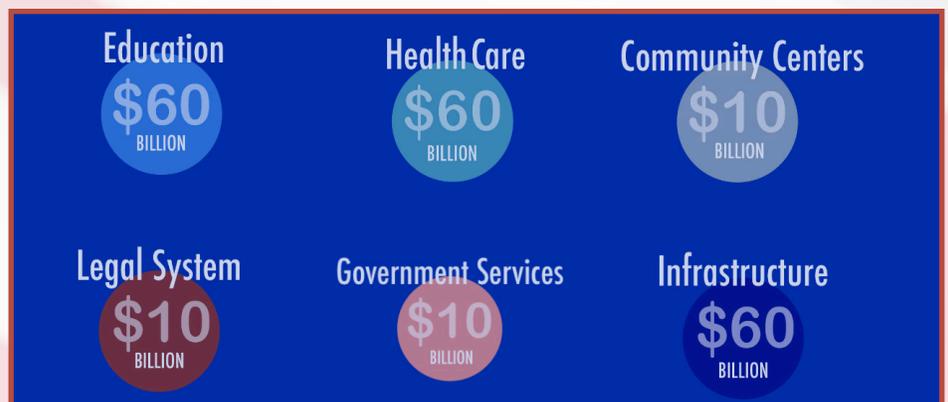

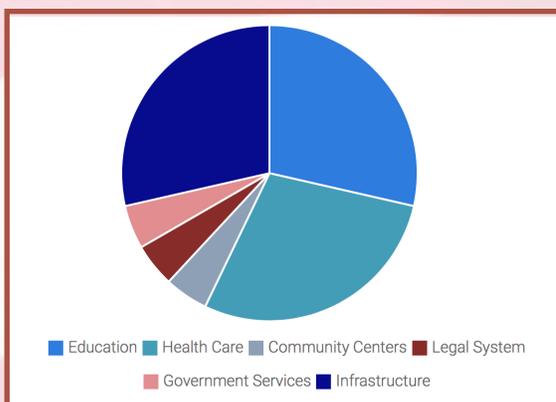

OUR VISION

We are calling on Congress to craft a sensible, non-partisan immigration reform bill that will:

- Positively transform the lives of unauthorized immigrants and Americans alike.
- Create a compassionate immigration process that boosts the U.S. economy.
- Produce a healthy, stable workforce and economy.
- Create a revenue stream that will fund areas affected by unauthorized immigration.
- Ensure that unauthorized immigrants feel safe to come “out of the shadows” and productively assimilate into American society with dignity, respect, and ease.
- Stop massive tax fraud while enlisting into accountability those responsible for the unfair financial burden placed on American taxpayers.

REVENUE FROM THE VISION

Creates 1.7 million new American jobs in construction, health care, education and other areas.

OUR HISTORY

ITIG was born of a deep passion to help.

When Founder & Director Mark Jason went to study in Mexico after his parents retired there in the '50s, he developed a love for the country and people of Mexico. His passion evolved to his present-day desire to help find a solution for immigration reform.

In June 2010, Mark led a think tank of professionals in exploring the effectiveness of immigrant taxes. The newly formed Immigrant Tax Inquiry Group discovered that poor tax policies were the bedrock of illegal immigration issues and they proceeded to formulate a compassionate, fair solution that embraces Respect, Equality, Accountability and Legality for all involved, with the added benefit of being a reasonable compromise for those on all sides of the issue.

Mark had been an IRS tax man and a budget analyst, which allowed him to bring an informed perspective to the table, resulting in the creation of a reasonable, balanced thinking-man's solution to immigration reform.

MARK JASON

Mark Jason, Director of ITIG (Immigrant Tax Inquiry Group) is a former Special Agent for the Internal Revenue Service. He served as a budget analyst for the California State University System, and as a consultant for the Mexican government. Over the past several years, Mark developed a 100-acre farm near Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, which produces more than 350 tons of honeydew melons annually for the United States. He did this to create local jobs and teach modern farming techniques to this area of need. His education, his diverse experience in accounting, economics and farm management, and his years of cross-border work have led him to focus on immigration reform in America. His third way immigration project, developed by a 'think tank' team, was seven years in the making. He resides in Malibu, California.
